

INCOMING DEKALB MEDICAL 1st YEAR RESIDENTS

Dylan Carlisle

I was born and raised in Albuquerque, New Mexico. I received a Bachelor's Degree in Biology and a second Bachelor's Degree in Spanish at the University of New Mexico. I am a recent graduate of Barry University's School of Podiatric Medicine. In my free time I enjoy being with my family, going to the beach (when there is one near), playing soccer, watching sports, and trying new restaurants. I am married to my wife Jessy, and we have a 2 year old son named Henry, a chocolate lab mix named Barkley, and a Baby Girl on the way in December. They are the reason I am where I am today, and I am excited to continue my success at DeKalb Medical and be part of the prestigious Podiatry Program here.

Karen Mast

I grew up in a small town in Oklahoma where there are more cows than people. I majored in statistics at the University of Oklahoma, and then went to podiatry school at Western University of Health Sciences in southern California. In my spare time, I enjoy running, kayaking, and going to music festivals and concerts. I am humbled to now be a part of the Podiatry Institute and look forward to spending the next three years in Georgia.

Yusef Opakunle

I was born and raised in Lagos, Nigeria and immigrated to the United States in 2008. I went to college at Minnesota State University, Mankato and graduated with a Bachelors of Science in Human Biology. After undergrad, I attended the New York College of Podiatric Medicine where I earned my Doctor of Podiatric Medicine Degree. My interest outside of school and medicine includes spending time with my family, travelling and playing (the real) football. I am a big fan of Manchester United Football Club. I am grateful to be a resident at Dekalb Medical and to be part of the Podiatry Institute. I look forward in working with all the faculty and staff.

Zachary Rohr

I was born in Wiesbaden, Germany and was raised in Clarksville, Tennessee. I attended East Tennessee State University where I graduated with a Bachelor's of Science in Sports Medicine. I received my Doctor of Podiatric Medicine Degree from Scholl College of Podiatric Medicine at Rosalind Franklin University in Chicago, Illinois. My interests expand to other areas including Soccer, College Football, and most outdoor activities. I have been highly involved in sports since an early age in which I played collegiate soccer at Trevecca Nazarene University in Nashville, TN as well as East Tennessee State University in Johnson City, TN.

Tommy Tally

I am from a small town in Missouri, but was born in California. I attended the University of Missouri where I received my BS in Biochemistry with a minor in Economics and was a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. I attended Western University in Pomona, CA where I received my Doctor of Podiatric Medicine Degree. It has been a goal of mine to attend DeKalb Medical Center for my residency training since I started at Western University, and I am honored to be part of a program with such an incredible history of podiatric physicians and surgeons. In my limited free time I enjoy watching and attending sporting events, going to music festivals/comedy shows, traveling, and working outside.
