

Hello Nashville Attendees, Vendors, and Sponsors,

We want to say thank you to all of you for your patience during this challenging time with COVID-19. We hope that all of you and your families are safe and secure.

We have been working with the Sheraton Grand Hotel to find suitable alternative dates for the Women's conference that was originally scheduled for March 19-22, 2020. As you can imagine with so many events being canceled due to the pandemic it has not been an easy task. However, we are happy to announce that we have finally been able to come to an agreement. The new dates of the Women's meeting in Nashville will be November 19-22, 2020. While we understand this may not be ideal for everyone, we feel this is the best option that is available to us and we are hoping this will give us all time to regroup and recover from the COVID-19 crisis. Please let us know as soon as possible by email, pi-info@podiatryinstitute.com, if you are able to still participate with this meeting during this new timeframe. As we work together to support each other during the crisis we need to work together in the recovery process as well.

Thank you again for your help and support.
